

Core Rules

6=Success 4-5=Partial Success 1-3=Fail

- 2 Wounds = No Partial Success

- Windfall. Someone thinks of a benefit.

Resolve is your determination, willpower and composure. You only have 6. Each adds 1d6 to your dice pool and you can spend it incrementally on a roll until you succeed or you accept the rolled result. Spent Resolve is called Doubt. When you mark more Resolve than you have, take 1 Trauma.

The GM may call for a Resolve or Doubt roll, 1d6 for each you have. Highest value counts, like with Take Action. Results here are unaffected by Wounds.

Assist another character by describing how and spend one Resolve to grant them +1d6.

Relief Arcs represent the moments between crises with recovery, reflection, or change. You spend Doubt on them to grow and recover. (See other side.)

Your Place in the World

Play Principles

- Be curious about the world. Your questions will help give it shape.
- Play to find out. Don't plan ahead, let the actions unfold naturally.
- Drive it like you stole it. Taking a chance is always more exciting.
- Make your adventures as silly as you want. Laugh or have drama. It's your story.
- Strong bonds shape you. Relationships define your world, lean into them.
